

THE 100TH ANNIVERSARY OF POLISH NATIONAL CURRENCY

Did you know that the 100 PLN has a symbolic meaning this year?

What do you mean?

It's the 100th Anniversary of Polish National Currency.

Oh really? How did it begin?

In 1924 Władysław Grbaski established The National Bank of Poland and introduced the Polish zloty

And is that really when things started?

They were different currencies beforehand but The Polish zloty debuted 100 years ago.

Cool. Do you know what the highest banknote denomination is?

Yeah. It's 500, and do you know what picture is on it?

Of course the face of Polish king, like on all banknotes.

You're right and on the 500 zloty banknote is Jan III Sobieski's face.

Well deserved. He was a great king.
